We are the Chartered College of Teaching

The Chartered College of Teaching is the professional body for teachers. We are working to empower a knowledgeable and respected teaching profession through membership and accreditation.

We are dedicated to bridging the gap between practice and research and equipping teachers with the knowledge and confidence to make the best decisions for their pupils. Through Chartered College of Teaching membership, teachers have access to a wealth of research, resources and insights to enable excellent teaching. This includes:

- termly issues of our award-winning journal, Impact
- online access to over 1,000 journal articles from previous issues
- accreditation of Chartered Status
- access to our Early Career Hub and MyCollege
- exclusive events connecting teachers to collaborate and share practice
- access to one of the world's largest databases of education research journals
- articles, guides and reviews giving you summaries of the latest research and evidence to develop your practice.

Our members have access to the tools to constantly develop their skills and teaching expertise.

We are supporting the profession to shape the future of teaching. In these challenging times, it is more important than ever that teachers are celebrated for their expertise and professionalism and that teachers have the opportunity to have their voice heard through consultations, surveys and roundtables.

The Chartered College of Teaching is an unequivocally positive voice for teaching, raising the status of the profession to benefit teachers, their students and the whole of society.

Why group membership?

Group membership of the Chartered College of Teaching is one of the most important levers available to school leaders seeking to raise the status of the profession through empowering their staff and underlining the importance of belonging to a professional body. It also serves as a powerful mechanism for professional learning and development.

Why invest in the development and professional learning of teachers and those supporting learning in the classroom through group membership?

Here's what the research tells us:

- Having effective teachers is the most important in-school factor for student achievement (Slater et al., 2012; Kane et al., 2013)
- Numerous studies have shown that continuing professional development (CPD), which provides opportunities for collaboration and critical reflection, can positively impact teacher effectiveness and student learning (Fletcher-Wood & Zuccollo, 2020; Kennedy, 2016; Sims et al., 2021)
- Teachers working in supportive professional environments develop further than their peers (Kraft & Papay, 2014)

The Chartered College of Teaching is your professional body for teaching, a not-for-profit charity independent of government, and a 'trusted broker of evidence' (EEF, 2021) on what makes teaching and leadership most effective.

In an ever-changing educational landscape, we're committed to providing accredited, rigorous and accessible CPD and resources – and to equipping staff with the tools to engage in research to drive sustainable school improvement.

Planning Your Professional Learning

This course introduces teachers to the evidence base around teacher CPD and guides them through the process of creating a bespoke professional learning plan that will help drive their development forward and ensure that the CPD they engage with has impact – on themselves, their school and their pupils.

Teachers will be able to access tools and resources to aid this process, including:

- access to the Chartered College of Teaching's Professional Framework
- a professional learning plan process and template
- evidence-informed content to develop understanding of effective CPD practice.

Teachers will be signposted to other resources available as part of their Chartered College of Teaching membership that can support them in taking their plan forward.

Teachers will be able to receive formal certification for their learning by successfully completing a short end-of-course quiz which will assess their knowledge of the core course content.

Testimonials

"The Chartered College offers such high quality opportunities for CPD, professional learning and professional reading. The website, webinars, publications and resources collectively bring a wealth of knowledge and wisdom to our teachers. A trust group membership is a no-brainer. Group membership with the Chartered College offers learning as a wider trust team which builds our collective wisdom and helps us develop a shared language to drive school improvement. It's incredibly powerful."

Nicki Antwis

Executive Director of Learning, Diocese of Bristol Academies Trust

"The Chartered College has helped change the attitude around teacher development, which in turn positively impacts pupil outcomes across our schools. With incredible courses, qualifications, webinars and research, as well as being able to participate in a wide range of working parties, this has inspired and motivated teachers to develop their practice and share this with colleagues both inside and outside of their schools, creating a national and indeed global professional learning community. This is one of the many reasons I chose to sign up all of my teachers and teaching assistants from Harrow International School Hong Kong for a membership to the Chartered College this academic year."

Laura Yandell FCCT

Principal Deputy Head (Curricular), Harrow International School Hong Kong

"Joining the College has offered the best CPD I have ever completed, and it is true to say that I feel like a better teacher and educator as a result of my involvement with the College. Teaching is about enrichment, inspiration and real education – the Chartered College acts as a catalyst for change and supports me to act as a champion for the profession to ensure children get the very best education possible."
